What's inside

A complete, print-ready brand book for Tecovas — the artifact a client receives, forwards internally, and works from. Every claim is grounded in the catalog, social, and ad evidence summarized on the final page.

01	Logo system	Wordmark, lockups, clear space, misuse
02	Color palette	HEX · RGB · CMYK · Pantone, with ratios
03	Typography	Specimens, pairing, type scale
04	Voice & tone	Principles and do / don't
05	Imagery	Art direction across three lanes
06	Motion & AI communications	2026 guidelines for animated & conversational surfaces
07	Methodology & provenance	Grounded counts and sources

SECTION 01

Logo system

One serif wordmark, set in Fraunces. Confident, slightly editorial, never ornamental. It works on Bone, on Boot Black, and on Saddle Tan — and nowhere else.

PRIMARY · ON BONE

Color palette

Earth first. Saddle Tan leads, Boot Black anchors, Bone breathes. Cactus, Clay, and Sky are accents — used sparingly, the way good leather takes a single contrast stitch. Print equivalents (CMYK + Pantone) are included for press.

Typography

A serif for voice, a grotesque for utility. Fraunces carries headlines and the wordmark; Founders Grotesk does the daily work of body, navigation, and product specs.

Aa

Fraunces

Soft-serif display · weights 400–700

Headlines, the wordmark, pull-quotes, and editorial moments. Set tight, with a touch of optical italic for warmth.

Voice & tone

Plainspoken, confident, never gimmicky — heritage without costume. We talk about the boot, the leather, and the price, and we let the craft do the bragging.

DO

"The Duke. A classic roper, made from cattle-tanned leather and built to be resoled for a lifetime."

DON'T

"Yeehaw! Saddle up, partner — these bad boys are FIRE and gonna sell out fast!!!"

DO

"Free shipping and free returns. Try them on at home and send them back if the fit isn't right."

DON'T

"RISK-FREE 100% money-back guarantee — you've got absolutely NOTHING to lose, act now!"

"Handmade over 200 steps. We skipped the middleman, not the craftsmanship."

DON'T

"Authentic genuine luxury premium handcrafted artisanal heritage Western footwear."

Imagery

Real light, real leather, real people. Three lanes carry the brand: lived-in lifestyle, honest product detail, and the human moment of buying a first pair.

Lifestyle — the ranch

Wide, environmental. Boots in motion and in context — dust, denim, last light.

Studio — leather detail

Macro on a neutral seamless. Show the 200-step craft; raking side-light for texture.

Retail — in store

Candid, warm. The fitting moment — people, not mannequins; Bone walls, wood shelving.

Light: golden hour & window daylight

Filters: none heavy — true-to-life color, gentle warmth

Composition: let the boot lead the frame

Texture: natural — leather, denim, weathered wood

People: real range of ages & builds, no costume

Crop: product-forward; the person is secondary

Motion & AI communications

As the brand moves into animated surfaces and conversational tools, the rule holds: confident and quiet. Motion is craftsmanship, not flash. The assistant sounds like a knowledgeable boot-bar associate — never a salesman.

Motion & micro-interaction

Subtle, leather-weighted, never bouncy.

Hover lift on product cards: translateY -3px, soft shadow, 180ms ease-out.

Scroll reveal: sections fade up 16px over 400ms, once, with a 60ms stagger.

CTA press: 60ms scale to 0.98 — a tactile "click," no color flash.

Image zoom: 1.0 → 1.04 over 6s on PDP detail; slow, like inspecting grain.

No spinners-as-decoration, parallax gimmicks, or auto-playing carousels.

AI assistant guardrails

Helpful first, honest always.

Voice: plainspoken and warm; answers the fit/care question, then stops.

Always: cite real policy — "free shipping & free returns," true sizing, resole service.

Never: invent stock, fabricate discounts, or pressure ("selling out fast!").

Escalate sizing disputes and order issues to a human; don't guess on money.

No emoji-cowboy shtick, no exclamation stacking, no fake urgency.

Methodology & provenance

Every claim in this book is grounded in evidence harvested from Tecovas' own surfaces and frozen on a fixed date, so the deliverable is reproducible and traceable.
